

I Congreso Internacional de EducaRed
Madrid, Spain Palacio de Congresos
January 18-21, 2001

I was contacted by the Ministry of Education in Spain and asked to present at their first International Congress on Technology and Internet in Education representing the United States. They had heard about my work in technology and online education through the GLOBE Spain office. The end of my presentation highlighted GLOBE as a premier international program utilizing high levels of technology and the country coordinator of Spain followed my presentation with a quick overview of GLOBE in Spain. I enlisted two colleagues from the University of Idaho to assist me in preparing and executing the presentation that I delivered in Spanish. The following Web site documents the conference.

<http://www.educared.net/congresoi/htm/congreso-i/portada.htm>

From the homepage click on the following: Información y Programa

1) Click on Programa. My lecture was from 10—11:30am Friday morning to a crowd of over 5,000 participants! This was an experience and quite an honor! I presented technology and the Internet in Education in the USA and representatives from other countries were invited to present the situation in their countries (France, Canada, Latin America, etc). The Prince of Spain (El Príncipe de Asturias) conducted the opening ceremony for the conference.

2) Click on Área de Trabajo Virtual (located along the top navigation bar)

Click on Documentación (located on the left hand navigation bar)

Click on Ponencias e Intervenciones del Congreso

Click on “Internet en las escuelas de Estados Unidos: Una perspectiva desde el programa GLOBE.” When you click on the title, it will open a PDF file of my presentation that they recorded and transcribed. It also includes all questions from the audience and my answers.

Over 5,000 participants

The Prince of Spain

Teresa J. Kennedy, Ph.D.

Kennedy, T.J., Odell, M.R.L. and Klett, M.D. (2001, January). “Internet en las escuelas de Estados Unidos y una perspectiva del programa GLOBE.” Congreso de EducaRed Foro de la Escuela Virtual, Ministerio de la Educación, Madrid, España.